My name is Om Prakash Shah, and I'm a passionate and dedicated student currently studying Information Technology. I live in Tinkune, Kathmandu, and I love exploring new things in the world of technology. I enjoy solving problems and have a keen interest in programming, web development, and database management. I'm always eager to learn and grow, and I want to use my skills to work on exciting and meaningful projects. I'm flexible, careful with details, and always do my best in everything I take on. My dream is to keep improving and make a positive impact in the world of IT.
